Price of Milk Cut 3 Cents

REDUCTION TO CONSUMERS IN EFFECT AT ONCE

Drop Most Drastic Since 1914 and Is Result of Economic Conditions

A cut of 3 cents a quart on the retail price of pasteurized milk will go into effect tomorrow, the most drastic reduction since 1914, announces Harry A. Walsh, manager of the Burr Creamery Corp., 653 West Park avenue.

Other cuts in the retail and wholesale price of milk, ranging from 18 to 20 per cent, are scheduled to greet Southern California consumers tomorrow, he states, all the large dairies being understood to have agreed on the reduction.

This means that pasteurized milk, which formerly retailed at 17 cents a quart, will henceforth be available at 14 cents a quart, while pints that have been selling for 10 cents will now be sold for 8 cents. Guaranteed raw milk is to drop from 22 cents to 20 cents a quart, states Mr. Walsh.

Wholesale Trade
In the wholesale trade, quarts are to drop from 15 to 13 cents, pints from 9 to 7 cents and three-gallon cans from $1.45 to $1.30. "The price of milk is a matter of supply and demand, like other food commodities," says Mr. Walsh. "Finding ourselves long on milk, we have chosen to pass the product on to the public at reduced rates, rather than convert it into increased volume of butter production."

Economic Condition
"With milk at these new low levels, the price of living should be materially reduced. Practically everyone uses milk to a certain extent. Milk is a weather-sensitive commodity. Creamery men by reason of the fact that their product is sold daily, are in close contact with the market, and have a keen insight into the economic situation. With increased consumption of milk at greatly reduced cost, there is every reason to believe that the general prosperity throughout Southern California will be on the rise the next few months."

Asked how long the low price would prevail, Mr. Walsh stated that it would continue while the supply remained in excess of the demand.

WARNING OF BIG STORM TO SWEEP ON COAST

Rain Falls In North and Gale Whips Ocean as Weather Changes

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—In anticipation of the first big storm of the season over the Pacific coast storm warnings were ordered displayed today by the weather bureau from San Francisco northward to Puget Sound.

Moderate to strong southeasterly gales are blowing along the coast between here and Canada, according to today's weather bureau statement. Rain was falling at Point Reyes, just north of the Golden Gate, and a 38-mile wind was whipping up a choppy sea.

The outlook is for rain tonight from Central California on north in the Pacific states, probably extending south to the Tehachapi mountain range in Southern California by tomorrow, the weather forecast predicted.

Rain has been falling along the coast and the western part of Washington and Oregon for the last few days. Last night it reached into Eureka, in northern California.

According to G. H. Willson, head of the San Francisco weather bureau, storms from two centers—one off Vancouver Island and the other off western Alaska—are now drawing together and when they meet will make a single storm center of unusual strength "that will come through like a bullet."

Cups Won by Glendale Board At Pasadena Conclave Formally Presented

With one of the largest attendances on record, the Glendale Realty board met at luncheon at noon today at the Alhambra and heard reports from the state convention at Pasadena last week and received six trophies won by local members. There were fifteen prizes given at Pasadena and Glendale won six of them, a record seldom equaled, it is said.

One of the first matters to come before the meeting was the $500,000,000 water and power act to be voted on in November. The board passed a resolution to disapprove this.

W. L. Twining made an announcement concerning the open forum meeting and urged attendance at the dinner on October 20. GIANT DIRIGIBLE CROSSES OCEAN IN BETTER TIME THAN LINER LEVIATHAN

Craft Makes Perfect Landing Following Its Trip of 4200 Miles; Average Speed Is Close to Mile Per Minute, Estimate

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
For International News Service.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 15.—Shimmering in the sunlight, the great silver coated dirigible ZR-3 soared majestically into the Lakehurst landing field at 9:17 o'clock this morning, completing its epochal 4200-mile trip across the Atlantic from Friedrichshafen, Germany.

The big cigar-shaped airship did not land immediately, but floated aloft like a lazy whale, as it taking its time for a spot to descend. Mighty cheers went up from the throng gathered at the landing field, and strung along the highways to witness the historic event.

Airplanes circled this "queen of the air," careful to keep at a distance out of respect for the highly explosive hydrogen in the ZR-3's gas bags.

From the gondolas of the pudgy, fish-shaped air liner, two or three of the thirty-two aboard could be seen waving greetings to the crowds below.

In their excitement, many of the husky "gobs" and marines, comprising the landing crew of 400 that were to "walk" the ship to its hangar, forgot to stand at attention and gave forth to lusty cheers.

The flying time of the ZR-3 from its hangar in Friedrichshafen, Germany, to the coast of North America, was approximately 75 hours.

The dirigible hopped off at 6:36 a. m. at Friedrichshafen, which would be 12:36 eastern standard time in the United States. It was 3:50 a. m. today, when it soared over North Turin, a little town tucked away on Cape Cod.

Record Journey
The history-making ZR-3, with its complement of thirty-two men, four American army and navy officers and twenty-eight German officers and crew, proudly circled the field, noting the landing signals displayed in giant letters in the ground below.

The ZR-3 had made the long non-stop flight averaging close to a mile a minute. This exceeded, as a commercial feat, anything on record, overshadowing the achievements of the liner Leviathan in spanning the Atlantic in four and one-half days. The ZR-3 which left Friedrichshafen at 6:36 last Sunday morning, made the trip to Lakehurst in less than three and one-half days.

Great Ovation
The liner had flashed across southern Germany, France, Switzerland, out over the Atlantic to the Azores, then arched north by west to the southern tip of Nova Scotia and sped at the rate of a mile a minute down the eastern coast of the United States to New York, where it drew a tremendous ovation.

As the ZR-3 soared above in the air, its silvery sides glistening, and its powerful motors thrumming to a beat that gradually sounded like a tom tom, the people scurried after her, following it from one end of the field to the other.

Little knots of people stood on buildings and waved back to the

First Methodist Church Members Hold Reception For Pastor

WELCOME DR. L. A. FERRIS TO PULPIT IN GLENDALE

Also Honor Dr. and Mrs. Henry I. Rasmus, Sr.,
and Rev. and Mrs. Rasmus, Jr.; Musical Program Is Given by Aid Society

Dr. and Mrs. Lincoln A. Ferris, the former newly appointed pastor of the First Methodist church, were given a hearty welcome by members of the congregation when a reception was held in their honor in the social hall of the church last night, 600 persons being present.

The reception was also a welcome for Rev. and Mrs. Henry I. Rasmus, Jr., Rev. Rasmus having been returned to Glendale to take charge of religious education in the church. Dr. and Mrs. Henry I. Rasmus, Sr., the outgoing pastor, was also honored at the reception.

The social hall of the church was decorated with potted plants arranged on the platform and baskets of fall flowers in the hall. Dr. and Mrs. Ferris, Dr. and Mrs. Rasmus, Sr., and Rev. and Mrs. Rasmus, Jr., stood in the receiving line as the guests assembled.

Orchestra Plays
The program and other details of the reception were arranged by the Ladies' Aid society members. Selections were rendered by the church orchestra under the direction of C. K. Aston, the leader.

R. E. Rose, president of the Men's Brotherhood of the church, presided at the gathering. Miss Genevieve Mulligan gave a reading, "Brother Peter Paul," and A. G. Lindley, a member of the board of trustees, brought greetings from all departments of the church. Dr. Ferris, Dr. Rasmus and Rev. Rasmus responded with fitting remarks.

Two selections were given by the church choir with Miss Isabel Isgrig as the leader. Mrs. Alice Murphy gave a reading and a duet was sung by Miss Isabel Isgrig and Mrs. Elah Fitz with Mrs. W. H. Randall accompanying them on the piano.

Gifts Presented
Dr. and Mrs. Rasmus, Sr., were presented with an overstuffed mohair fireside chair and Polychrome mirror, the presentation being made by A. G. Lindley, in behalf of the church. Cossage bouquets of sweetpeas and maiden hair ferns were presented to Mrs. Ferris, Mrs. Rasmus, Sr., and Mrs. Rasmus, Jr., by Mrs. C. H. Starkey, representing the Ladies' Aid society.

Following the program, refreshments of punch and wafers were served by the Ladies' Aid society and a social time enjoyed. Dr. Ferris was appointed to the pastorate of the First Methodist church in Glendale at the annual conference held at Santa Barbara, September 24, and comes here from San Diego where he was pastor of the First Methodist church, having served in that field for the past seven years.

Father Is Minister
Dr. Ferris is the son of Rev. George W. Ferris, one of the pioneer ministers of the New York conference. He began his ministry in the conference of his father at Dobbs' Ferry, New York, later going to Mt. Vernon Place Methodist church, Baltimore, where he held the pastorate for seven years. Dr. Ferris has preached at the church the past two Sundays.

Dr. H. I. Rasmus, Sr., who has been pastor of the First Methodist church in Glendale for two years, retired from active ministry at the Santa Barbara conference. Rev. Rasmus, Jr., has been director of religious education in Glendale for the past two years and has started on his third year of work.

EDUCATION BOARD ACTS ON POLICY

Denies Pay Entertainments
To Be Held In Schools;
Makes Appointments

The Board of Education last night reaffirmed its policy of refusing to allow the holding of pay entertainments in the city schools, unless these be school or P. T. A. entertainments. The meeting was held in the office of Superintendent Richardson D. White, 107 1/2 South Brand boulevard, Mrs. A. A. Barton, president, presiding.

The board adopted a resolution of intention to sell to the city, for road improvement purposes, a 10-foot strip of the Grand View school's Fourth street frontage. John T. Cate, business manager, was authorized to investigate a calcium chloride solution for laying the dust on school grounds, and if legal procedure permits, to try this on the Columbus school grounds.

Appointments Made
The board allowed the office force five days' absence each half year for illness, or ten days a year. Miss Lucile Council of South Pasadena was authorized to draw up a plan for landscaping the Grand View school grounds. The appointment of Harry A. Vestal as a manual training instructor was confirmed, as was the appointment of Mrs. Arvie Mendenhall as opportunity room teacher at the Wilson Intermediate school.

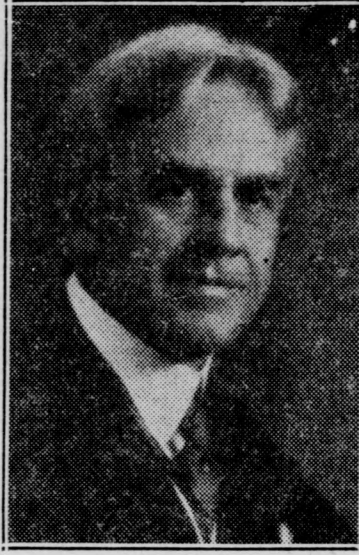

Every member of the Board of Education was present. In addition there were Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, and John T. Cate, business manager.

90 PIECES IN ORCHESTRA CONCERT

Big Musical Entertainment
At Broadway High on Next Friday Night

Bringing the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra of ninety pieces to Glendale, where they will give a concert at the Broadway High school on Friday night of this week, is the biggest undertaking in the history of the student body, declares George U. Moyle, Glendale Union High school principal.

In order to get this great aggregation of world-famous musicians to visit Glendale, it was necessary to guarantee them $1000, he states. This means that it will be necessary to pack the 2000-seat auditorium Friday night, in order to make the undertaking a financial success.

"Few people realize the standing of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra," says Mr. Moyle. "It is recognized as one of the two greatest in the United States, and this means in the world, for European orchestras cannot compare with those in this country."

"The chief object in bringing this great orchestra here is not to make money, but to provide the people of Glendale with a musical program of the highest type. It is our ambition to offer one such pre-eminent entertainment each season in the auditorium of the Broadway High school."

"In order that the largest possible audience may get the greatest amount of enjoyment from this entertainment, Director Walter Henry Rothwell has arranged a varied program of the highest type, with numbers that will appeal to everyone."

SYMPHONY MUSIC IS HIGHLY PRAISED

Glendale Orchestra Heard by Capacity Audience In First Concert

A flattering ovation was accorded J. Arthur Myers, director, and members of the Glendale Symphony orchestra, in the first concert of the season last night at the Glendale Intermediate school. Sponsored by prominent Glendale residents and musicians, and including in its membership players of talent, this orchestra is fast developing into a finished organization.

The various orchestral numbers given last night were indicative of individual talent and splendid leadership by Mr. Myers. The hearty applause of the large audience expressed approval of earnest and successful work. Assisting the orchestra was Mrs. Virginia Biddlecom, contralto. Glendale music lovers are anticipating other concerts.

REV. MARSH SUMMONED BY DEATH

Was Congregational Pastor;
Passes Away Following
Extended Illness

Rev. Wilson J. Marsh of Yorba Linda, who served as pastor of the First Congregational church in 1919, during the time Dr. E. H. Willisford, the pastor, was in overseas work, died yesterday afternoon, Tuesday, October 14, 1924, at a local hospital, where he recently underwent major surgery. Mr. Marsh had been in poor health for over two years, and his many Glendale friends will regret to hear of his death following the operation, which, it was hoped, would benefit his condition.

Mr. Marsh was born 61 years ago in the state of New York. He received his education for the Congregational ministry at the Chicago Theological seminary. He had occupied pastorates in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Nebraska, South Dakota and Chicago, Ill. Mr. Marsh came to California in 1910. Previous to that time he was pastor for seven years of a church in Albuquerque, N. M.

HONOR JOHN R. QUINN AT GLENDALE POST BANQUET

Accomplishments and Aims of Organization
Told by Former Chief in Talk; State
Officials Attend Annual Event

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

While more than 200 former service men and women sat attentively in the main dining room of the Oakmont Country club last night, John R. Quinn, past national commander of the American Legion, and native Californian, inspired them with an address in which he mingled philosophy with pathos, reason with reminiscences, sorrow with smiles, and past performances with prospects.

It was the first public address delivered by Past National Commander Quinn to a crowd of former service men and women since his term as national executive head of the Legion expired with the convention in St. Paul on September 19. For that reason, Mr. Quinn's address was in the nature of a report, in which he briefly summed up the work accomplished by the American Legion during his administration.

Wilson Presided
Mr. Quinn was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, Joseph A. Wilson, post commander, presided and delivered the address of welcome, and Col. James W. Everington, officiated as toastmaster.

In addition to Past National Commander Quinn, other high Legion officials who were present and spoke were Nathan F. Coombs of Napa, commander of the department of California, and James Fiske, state adjutant. Visiting Legionnaires from Eagle Rock, Van Nuys, Lankershim, Burbank, Pasadena, Hollywood, Los Angeles and Oakland were guests at the banquet.

Reed-Johnson Bill
Mr. Quinn, in summing up the work accomplished by the American Legion last year, said he considered the greatest thing done during his administration was the passage of the Reed-Johnson bill by Congress in the closing hours of the session.

"The bill is not wholly perfect," he said, "but it is as near perfect as we could make it. There is one little paragraph in that bill

THE WALL STREET MYTH

There is a feeling that Wall street is engaged in every kind of wicked activity, for getting America into the world war, for the scandals in politics, for bankrupting the farmers, for dictating all editorials favoring the Republican administration and for the nomination of John W. Davis.

It is rarely that anyone comes to the defense of Wall street. So it is in some surprise that we read in The New Republic, the radical weekly, an article by George Soule, a spokesman for the labor cause, on "The Myth of Wall Street," in which he denies that there is a conspiracy of big business.

Soule says the psychologist would find as much individual difference, as much generosity and native selfishness, as much independence and clannishness, among bankers in Wall street as among any other class. Their mental habits are similar, of course, due to environment. The sociologist would see in the general hostility of business toward labor and the farmer a product of social situation, intelligence and education, rather than the result of any conspiracy. Interlocking directorates which inspire demagogues with such fine ammunition are merely the evidence, he says, "of a natural tendency of like-habited and like-enviored men to get control of like enterprises."

The myth of Wall street, according to Soule, amounts to a personification of forces which have a real existence. The personification of these forces is absurd. The forces symbolized by Wall street are to be regarded very much in the same light as the forces of nature. "Business, very much like the lower animals, though it has no intelligence, often behaves as though it had," he says. As man wages a constant warfare against the forces of nature, so society must fight the economic system which finds its symbol in the myth of Wall street.

OCTOBER DAYS

Our beloved poet placed October in "the melancholy days, the saddest of the year," but October, in California, does not induce morbidity or melancholia. It has the opposite effect, for it inspires mere editorial writers to become pensive and poetical.

The San Bernardino Sun says: "What is so rare as a day in June," unless it be an afternoon in October when the departing sun lends a tint and a mystic charm to all the purple and gold, yellow and brown of the trees, the hills and the fields? There is a freshness and a life-giving vigor about the air of October unknown to her sister months. October is the month of out-of-doors when nature exerts her utmost magnetism and all humanity strains at the leash of confining civilization.

"October days invite sober thought and speculation on the beauties of nature and the sheer joy of living. October is the rugged manhood of the year in its glorious strength; it is symbolic of tasks begun and completed; it is a synonym for achievement."

"Remember strength-giving October for inspiration and renewed courage."

WHAT TO READ

That he reads all the murder, divorce and robbery stories in the newspapers, but does not read the political and world news, unless it is in condensed form, and he can get it at a glance, is the confession of a correspondent to a weekly journal. His excuse is that the first is interesting because he can learn from it something about his fellow men, while from the latter he may not learn very much about anything.

On the same page on which his letter appears is a communication from a woman who claims to be happily married and says that her relatives and her husband's relatives are all happily married and that in their large circle of friends in various cities and towns and in different sections of the country, there is a record of three divorces out of 250 couples. She asks why, in modern publications, the emphasis is placed on abnormal life and unhappy marriages?

There might be a lesson in this for the first correspondent. Is he learning so much about his fellow man, after all, when he devours the news of murders, divorces and burglaries as they are dished up in the modern newspapers?

DARROW ADVOCATES VIOLATION OF LAW

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense in the Leopold-Loeb trial in Chicago, is opposed to the eighteenth amendment and says in time this law will become a dead letter. Mr. Darrow has a right to his own opinion, but the advice he gives to those who would like to see the law repealed sounds rather strange coming from a lawyer. He takes issue with the statement of General Grant that "the best way to repeal a bad law is to enforce it." Mr. Darrow says the best way to get rid of a bad law (and he implies that the eighteenth amendment is in this category) is to resist it until it is abandoned as unenforceable.

Darrow hastens to point out that he is far from advocating habitual violation of laws. Presumably, each of us is to violate only those laws which we do not like and which we consider bad laws. A man of Mr. Darrow's reputation and ability should go a step further and tell us how we can break these bad laws legally, for surely it can be done.

WELLS AS A PROPHET

H. G. Wells is a man of diversified accomplishments and now he has one more. He is being hailed as a prophet. In "A Story of the Days to Come," published in 1899, Mr. Wells describes very minutely a radio set, not forgetting "the trumpet," and explains the method of tuning in different and distant stations just as it is done today. But Mr. Wells made one mistake. The story is about the descendant of a man who read the London Times the first thing every morning. But, this descendant "did not read the Times, he did not know there had ever been a Times—that institution had foundered somewhere in the intervening gulf of years."

The radio has not replaced the newspaper and it is hardly probable that Mr. Wells will be alive when this institution founders, if it ever does so.

A LOUD SPEAKER

All Vote

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A movement has been started in Washington to get out the chronic stay-at-home vote which is said to comprise about 50 per cent of the citizen-ship.

The organization is non-partisan and its only aim will be to stimulate the lagging voter. It is proposed to establish a national organization with state branches and smaller branches for smaller units. The purpose of the association were set forth in their constitution as follows:

"The purpose of this association is to aid, by all practical means, a full registration and vote of all qualified American citizens throughout the United States. To that end it is our purpose to organize a national association which will include every part of the country.

"It is our purpose to enroll members regardless of political affiliations and to secure the patriotic services and co-operation of all individual citizens and all classes of people."

According to Mr. Mitchell, who is prominent in the association, it is said that for every one hundred persons who went to the polls on election day, ninety-four qualified voters stayed at home.

He says that but 26,674,000 people voted in the last presidential election, while there were 54,420,000 people, native and naturalized citizens, of voting age.

They claim that the stay-at-home habit is growing at an enormous rate. In 1896, 80 per cent of the voters cast their ballots; in 1900, 73 per cent; in 1908, 66 per cent; in 1912, 62 per cent, and in 1920, less than 50 per cent of the people voted.

People do not vote because they have no interest in the government, but they fail to recognize that those who are interested in government are small groups who desire to use the government for their personal advantage. It is necessary, therefore, for the large mass of citizens to take an active interest in voting in order to counteract the effect of these special groups.

Government will continue to be used for special privilege until these indifferent citizens express themselves. It is hoped, therefore, that the country may be saved for the majority by arousing the majority to vote.

Horoscope

Another unfavorable day is forecast by astrologers. While Uranus is in benefic aspect, Neptune is strongly adverse.

Under this planetary government the mind may be keenly awake to suggestions, but the judgment should not be twisted. There is a sign making for interest in psychic matters and an extraordinary sensitiveness to suggestion.

What is believed to be a growth in superstition will be evident; but it may be due to occult influences that belong to this new era now dawning.

There is promise of great advancement in educational methods and great success in new policies.

Deceit, treachery and many intrigues may be looked for while Neptune is in malefic sway.

Again there appears to be some trouble over oil and oil production that brings to the surface new scandals.

Many teachers will appear at this time to attract followers to new cults, among which may be one of strange potential power.

Bigotry and religious intolerance will be apparent in many parts of the world, and they are heralded by the seers as indicating the coming of a holy war.

Between the spiritual and material forces of the universe there is likely to be a terrific contest in which humanity is vanquished by its unworthy aspirations toward what appeals to the physical man.

New fashions for men and women will bring hints of future happenings, since clothes have a real symbolism and reflect the man's mind which is unconscious of the message that it may bring with it.

November is to be a time of much illness and the health should be safeguarded. There is danger of a serious epidemic that baffles science.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a quiet year. Business and domestic affairs should proceed as usual.

Children born on this day probably will be very successful in whatever they undertake. These subjects of Libra are likely to be versatile as well as practical and able to concentrate.

Today's Poem

THE CHILD IN THE GARDEN
When to the garden of untroubled thought
I came of late, and saw the open door,
And wished again to enter, and explore,
The sweet, wild ways with stainless bloom inwrought,
And bowers of innocence with
It seemed some purer voice must speak before
I dared to tread that garden loved of yore.
That Eden lost unknown and found unsought.
Then just within the gate I saw a child—
A stranger-child, yet to my heart
most dear—
Who held his hands to me and softly smiled
With eyes that knew no shade of sin or fear;
"Come in," he said, "and play
awhile with me;
I am the little child you used to be."

Making

Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1860

Buchanan's four years of administration were years of trouble and danger. The slavery question overshadowed every other issue and was beginning to threaten the very existence of the country as a united nation. The Republicans held a convention in Chicago in May of 1860 and nominated Abraham Lincoln of Illinois for president, and Hannibal Hamlin of Maine for vice-president. Lincoln was nominated on the third ballot; William H. Seward and Gerrit Smith of New York and afterwards so distinguished as secretary of state, leading him in the first two ballots. Hamlin was nominated on the second ballot. He had been governor of Maine, sat in the House and was now in the Senate.

The Know Nothing party had gone to keep company with the Federalist, the National Republican and the Whig parties in "the flowerless fields of Enna." A party calling itself the Constitutional Union party had sprung up, as it were, over night. Its laudable object was to smooth things over and avert the impending cataclysm. It held a convention in May of 1860 and nominated John Bell of Tennessee who had held many important offices including that of Whig secretary of war and United States Senator for president and Edward Everett of Massachusetts for vice president.

The Democratic convention met at Charleston, South Carolina, in April. Several platforms were proposed, one of them—curiously enough it seems now—by Benjamin F. Butler, who was a delegate and who voted steadily, and practically alone, for the nomination of Jefferson Davis. So many delegates bolted this convention because of dissatisfaction with the platform finally adopted that it adjourned to meet in Baltimore in June after fifty-seven ballots had been taken. In every ballot Douglas was the leader but lacked the two-thirds vote required.

Upon reassembling at Baltimore the convention nominated Douglas with Herschel V. Johnson—who had been governor of Georgia, United States Senator and was destined to be a senator of the Confederacy—as his running mate. There were bolters from the Baltimore convention and these joined with the Charleston bolters in putting forward John C. Breckinridge for president and Joseph J. Jackson of Oregon for vice president. Douglas was the biggest man in the Democratic party; "the Little Giant," too well known to require comment. Breckinridge, of the distinguished Kentucky family of that name, represented the radical pro-slavery element of the South. He was afterwards a distinguished soldier of the Confederacy and Confederate Secretary of War.

When it came to election Lincoln polled 1,865,452 of the popular vote to 1,337,157 for Douglas; 847,958 for Breckinridge and 590,631 for Bell. In the electoral college Lincoln got 180 votes to 12 for Douglas, 72 for Breckinridge and 39 for Bell. It will be noticed that while Douglas was away ahead of both Breckinridge and Bell in the popular vote he was way behind them in the electoral vote.

Political Pulse

Editor's Note.—This is the sixth of a series of articles written by A. S. Hall, of The Glendale Evening News editorial staff, dealing with the political situation in Central and Middle West states, and in the South and Southwest. Material for this series was gathered by Mr. Hall on a tour of 6000 miles through Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. The next article of the series to appear in The Glendale Evening News will be: "Floundering and Flopping About."

VI—WHERE ANYTHING MIGHT HAPPEN NOV. 4

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff

Political leaders in many states of the Union are able now to tell you what is going to happen in their particular commonwealth on November 4, but there is one state where those in charge of the three campaigns are unable to figure out just what is going to happen.

That state is Missouri, called by many the Keystone state of the Middle West in things political. A recent tour of that state showed that, as far as the three candidates are concerned, it is anybody's race as yet.

The whole state is at sea, observations reveal, as far as picking out a presidential candidate. Some students of politics in Missouri who have given the matter considerable thought, are of the opinion that Coolidge will carry in the large cities, while Davis stands a chance to poll the largest vote in the rural districts.

City Against Country
It looks like the age-old struggle of the country against the city will be revived. Farmers throughout the state, generally, favor Davis as their choice, while the business men of the cities are influential in securing votes for Coolidge.

Davis has been gaining strength in Missouri in the last few weeks, according to political leaders. His followers were not so numerous throughout the state before the Democratic candidate appeared at Bunceon and addressed an audience estimated as high as 50,000 persons. Since that time more voters have been rallying around the standards of the Democratic party, it is said.

Went Republican in 1920
Missouri went Republican in 1920 by a majority of 152,363 in the presidential race, records reveal. Even the most optimistic Republican leaders this year do not count on a plurality of over 40,000, and many expect that less than 25,000 votes will separate first and second choice.

On the other hand, the leaders of the Democratic party are estimating that Davis will carry the state outside of St. Louis with a majority of 50,000 votes. They point to the fact that the best Coolidge will be able to do in Missouri will be to roll up a majority of 25,000 within the city limits, which would fall 25,000 short of enough to carry the state.

One of the big factors in the presidential race in Missouri this year will be the task of getting out the vote, according to many residents of that state. The registration in St. Louis this year is 11,000 under the registration four years ago. Out of 22,000 negroes who have moved to St. Louis from the south during the last four years, only 3700 of them have registered.

La Follette Forces Busy
Sensing the situation in Missouri, leaders of the La Follette faction have been busy in the state. The Wisconsin senator is expected to get a heavy vote from the German-Americans living in the state, and from labor organizations, it is said. The German-American vote would ordinarily have gone to Coolidge, it is declared, but La Follette will get it this year because of his anti-war activities.

Various German-American organizations in St. Louis are said to control 50,000 votes, while it is said there are twelve counties in the state where the German-American population is large enough to give La Follette a fairly large vote. The labor vote for La Follette will be fairly heavy, inasmuch as the chief labor unions have gone on record as supporting him.

La Follette's activities in Missouri only tend to make the presidential race more unsettled, it is said. The Wisconsin senator is gathering more support from the Republican ranks than he is from the Democratic ranks, according to observations, but he is not conceded a chance to carry the state.

Sentiment Is Changed
Coolidge had a good chance to carry Missouri if the election had been held in August, political observers declare. Now there is considerable doubt, inasmuch as the Democrats are gathering strength throughout the state and La Follette is said to be winning over many who would have voted for Coolidge a month or more ago.

State politics are rather tame in Missouri this year. Practically all Republican candidates for state offices are expected to win out, although there are a few offices where the Democrats are assured of a victory.

Should the women take a more active interest in the presidential race than they have shown recently, and should the "stay-at-home" voters decide to express their wishes at the polls on November 4, anything might happen in Missouri.

Comment

By GIL A. COWAN

For some reason, quite inexplicable, the romances of stage and screen celebrities are public property.

With the exception of Harold Lloyd, they relish the publicity to be had from marriages, divorces and pups.

Two marriages, also a divorce, are chronicled in the morning papers. Hundreds of other folks got married and one line in the finest type is all they get. A little more publicity is afforded the layman who succeeds in getting the matrimonial knot untied.

No one denies the right of the public to read about famous people, but there is some doubt in the writer's mind if film stars will go down in history as famous, or infamous, for that matter.

A paragraph told of the death of Anatole France, noted author. Why not a paragraph for film folks? It's a great plenty.

And if they are sensible, like Harold Lloyd, it will please them the more. Charles Ray is another who doesn't get cheap publicity at the price of his private affairs being dissected by press agents.

Overconfidence may cost the Republicans a victory in California. Despite the claims and counter claims, the northern part of the state is a question mark as far as President Coolidge is concerned. In the south he has much stronger support, but the independent candidate, La Follette, will poll heavily. Governor Richardson last week sounded a warning against overconfidence in the Coolidge camp. The remaining three weeks of the campaign should see a battle royal for ballots.

Market observers note that a reaction has set in just before election day. Traders are uncertain as to results. There is no question but that La Follette will not secure sufficient electoral votes. He will NOT be president, from all presidential prognostications. But there is a question whether Coolidge will receive sufficient electoral votes. He will NOT be president if the House of Representatives has the final say, according to political observers. Therein lies real danger.

Some strange results are expected in the coming election. Many believe Theodore Roosevelt, Republican nominee, will wrest New York from Al Smith and Democratic control. It also appears that Jack Walton, Oklahoma's ousted governor, will be elected to replace United States Senator Owen.

In Texas and Wyoming there are possibilities that women will rule as governors. And the Brookhart-Dawes row may swing Iowa to La Follette. The blind congressman, Thomas Schall, is a

"Athena is both comfortable and smart"

What all women long for and some have not yet discovered—underclothing that provides at the same time the much desired trimness and a wonderful sense of ease and freedom. Athena presents just this rare combination, the necessary smartness of fit with no possibility of pulling or binding. The secret lies in the making—all Athena garments are tailored to follow the natural lines of the figure; they do not have to be stretched into shape. That's one reason why Athena forms the perfect foundation for the gown of the season.

News Letter

From Staff Correspondents of International News Service

By J. D. MEDDOFF
For International News Service.
HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 14.—In making his third sweeping invasion of the current political campaign into his native West Virginia recently, John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, stirred up anew heated discussions over the moot question of whether the state will line up for him in November because of "favorite son" sentiment.

Although he appeared on his last trip in but three important centers of population in West Virginia—Charleston, Huntington and Bluefield—Davis' visit, coming unexpectedly and with such suddenness as to catch Democratic local organizations in the State completely unprepared, created a profound impression because of the large audiences he attracted on short notice.

Here in Huntington, with but 70,000 population, more than 25,000 persons were said to have heard Davis speak, and not until the eve of his appearance did it become known definitely that he was coming.

Notwithstanding Davis' three brief trips into his native state, however, Republican adherents assert that West Virginia will discard sentiment and remain in their ranks in the voting next month. They point to the fact that West Virginia has been safely Republican for the past thirty-two years.

THE GATEWAY

The Gateway theatre bill for today will be the usual Wednesday feature of selected vaudeville, a very good bill being anticipated. Along with this bill is offered "The City That Never Sleeps," a James Cruze production starring Miss Virginia DuCorbin, Richard Corbin and Katherine Williams. This is a picture of unusual merit and has played to capacity houses this season. Thursday, Friday and Saturday will see the famous D. W. Griffith's "America."

Petition for Street Opening Is Approved

City Planning commission approved last night a petition presented by Burchett street property owners for the opening of this street east from Brand boulevard to Glendale avenue, along the south side of the Verdugo wash, to connect with Monterey road at Glendale avenue. The meeting was held at the City Hall, Chairman T. W. Watson presiding.

This is part of a general program under way by property owners to get a direct route from Sycamore canyon to Burbank, by way of North Glendale. The Burchett street petitioners, fortified with the approval granted by the City Planning commission, contemplate presenting a petition to the City Council, urging that Burchett street be opened up from Brand boulevard to Glendale avenue, connecting with Monterey road.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"The Country Cousin," clever Booth Tarkington comedy which opened today with a matinee at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, will make its formal debut to the Glendale public at 8:15 o'clock tonight, when it is expected that a large and brilliant gathering will be present to hail this second offering of the Dobinson Players.

Some of the best work in this play is done by Gertrude Kellar and Richard Ehlers, who show that their success in "A Prince There Was" is based on a high order of histrionic ability.

The play itself is charming and shows Tarkington in his best vein. Here is a small-town comedy written by a man who knows how, in refreshing contrast to a swarm of mediocre plays of similar intent. He had as his collaborator Julian Street, himself a playwright of no mean proportions.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S ROAST APPLES

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggily was sitting all alone in his hollow stump bungalow, there sounded a knock on the door.

"Who is there?" asked the bumpy gentleman, and right after that he wished he hadn't said a word. "For maybe it's the Fuzzy Fox or the Woosie Wolf!" thought the bunny.

But when a voice answered and said: "I am Uncle Butter, the goat!" Uncle Wiggily felt happy. "Come right in, Uncle Butter!" he called, opening the door. "What kind wind blew you here today when I am all alone?"

"No wind blew me—what do you think I am—a kite?" laughed the goat. "I came here by myself and I brought these," and in his hoof he held out two large red apples.

"Those are fine apples," said Uncle Wiggily. "What are you going to do with them?"

"Well, I'm not going to know," laughed the goat. "I thought perhaps you could make them into a pie, and you and I, alone here by ourselves, could eat the pie. I love apple pie. You can make one, can't you?"

"Oh, yes, I could easily make an apple pie—if I wanted to," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I don't believe there is any sugar in the bungalow."

"I'll skip to the store and buy some sugar," eagerly offered Uncle Butter.

"Ahem! Yes! Very kind of you, I'm sure!" said Uncle Wiggily. "But I believe there is no flour—can't bake apple pies without flour, you know."

"I'll get some flour!" offered the goat.

"No, thank you," spoke the rabbit. "After thinking it over I believe apple pie wouldn't be good for you. It will be much better to roast the apples. I can easily do that."

"Very well," said Uncle Butter. "Roast apples or apple pie are all the same to me. We'll roast these apples. Do you roast them inside the stove or outside?"

"Oh, outside, of course," answered Uncle Wiggily, who knew as much about roasting apples as he did about sewing shoe buttons on a georgette crepe de chine bathing suit. "We'll set the apple on top of the hot stove outside—where we can see them roast. Why, Uncle Butter, if you put apples inside the stove, you never would know when they were done," said the rabbit.

"No more you would," agreed the goat. "You know best."

So Uncle Wiggily put the two red apples on top of the hot stove, and he and Uncle Butter sat down in front to watch them roast. The apples soon began to sizzle.

"What's that," asked Uncle Butter.

"The apples are sizzling," said the rabbit. "Roast apples always do that."

"Oh," said Uncle Butter, "I'm glad to know it."

Soon the apples became hotter they sizzled louder. Then they burst wide open. One apple struck Uncle Wiggily on the pink, twinkling nose, and the other hit Uncle Butter in the eye.

"What's that?" bleated the goat.

"That's a sign the apples are done," said Uncle Wiggily. "They just pop off the stove right toward you all ready to eat. Pick up the pieces and eat them."

"Oh," bleated Uncle Butter, rubbing his eye. "I didn't know that was the way you roasted apples. But they are very good," he said, as he picked up the pieces from the floor and ate them.

"Oh, yes," said Uncle Wiggily, looking very wise. "I always roast apples that way." And he picked up his pieces and ate them. And how Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy laughed when she came home and heard what had happened.

"You should have roasted the apples in the oven," she said.

"Well, that's a good way, too," laughed the bunny, and the goat looked at him in a funny way. And if the piece of cheese doesn't go walking down the middle of the table to tickle the chocolate cake under the chin, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the egg beater.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:—I am 15 years old, five feet, three inches in height and weigh 123. I suppose I am classed with the F. F. F.'s but being a girl, I'd rather be classed with the T. T. T.'s. I have enclosed the required stamps and self-addressed, stamped envelope and hope you will send me the pamphlet on reducing."

"I'm terribly weak-minded. I doubt if I could stick to my diet. Is there anything I could do to stick to it? What should be my proper weight? I was told 118 pounds in school, but I think my ideal weight is 100 as I am short and have tiny hands and feet. I look so ridiculous because I'm fat and have such small hands and feet, because my arms and legs are by no means small. In fact, my arms in proportion to my body are awfully fat."

"Do you know, boys are rather suspicious of fat people? They think I'm 'mushy' because I'm fat! Isn't that horrid?"

"I think you are wonderful, Doctor, to do all this work for poor pieces of humanity who go-mandize until they are tons overweight. I have tried to go on a liquid diet by myself, but there aren't any liquids I like except malted milks and sodas, and I don't suppose I could reduce by these? I hate straight milk or coffee. Therefore, it was really a strike on eats, and by the afternoon I was so weak that I simply had to eat. And my greatest weakness is for potatoes. That's what made me so fat in the first place. What can I do for dandruff?"

"Here's hoping I get the booklet soon, so that I can become thin. Goodbye, dear doctor. I wish you long life, just to help others like me. Selfishly yours,—Irene."

According to the American Child Health association tables, the average weight for a girl of 15, height 5 feet 3 inches, is 116; so at 123, you are twelve pounds overweight.

No, indeed, I'm not disgusted with you, Irene. The fact that you are interested enough to write and confess your faults shows that you are not so weak as you think you are. I am sure you have character enough to control your appetite, when you know how to do it. Then you want to be attractive to the boys! That's normal. And you want to be attractive to yourself!

and to your friends—that's normal also. Reducing is not only going to make you more attractive, but is going to make you healthier also.

If you don't like plain milk, when you go on the liquid diet, you can take your malted milk if you like. A full tablespoonful is 100 C. Made up as it is in the drug stores of milk, malted milk and syrup, there are probably 250 to 350 calories in it. You must remember that you are growing and you need milk, at least three glasses a day, even while you are reducing. Get a lot of outdoor exercise and you can eat more. Don't try to reduce more than a pound a week. Try 1200 or 1500 calories a day and see how much you lose on that. You can have a potato once or twice a day, if you like, only don't take bread when you eat potato. A medium-sized potato is 100 C.

FOR YOUR DANDRUFF, brush your scalp thoroughly at least five minutes a day. Then shake out the loose dandruff. If it is very bad, you can apply a little sulphur cream, which you can get in any drug store. Rub in with the tips of the fingers on the scalp, leaving it in over night and washing it out the next day. We have a pamphlet on the care of the scalp. There are further directions in that. Write me how you get along?

TOMORROW—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material, please enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the S. S. S. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Jackie—An oily scalp comes from an abnormal condition of the general system, a correction of this will be needed to bring about a cure. Frequently the trouble comes from faulty elimination. Sun and air baths for the scalp will help the local condition, and always use very cold water as last rinse after a shampoo; this stimulates the circulation and is helpful in bringing about an improvement in any unhealthy condition.

Instead of frequent shampooing remove some of the oil from the hair each day by wiping it out with soft towels.

Kitty—If the hair is thick a liquid or a soft soap is best for shampooing. Any fine soap dissolved in water will be all right to use this way. There is no reason why you should not do this work for yourself, but you should remember that hair as thick as yours will need a great deal of rinsing to get all the soap out of it.

You could not improve upon the preparation for your arms in which there is glycerine, rose water and bayrum. Use a bath brush, when bathing the skin that has the tendency to roughness.

Discouraged—You may have taken the blood purifier for a much longer time than necessary, and the result would be to thin out your blood too much. Pimples could result from such a condition. Consult your doctor.

Uncertain—When massaging face with a cleansing cream, use the tips of the fingers and merely aim to lubricate skin so as to dissolve the soil in the pores. Your face should not feel hot after gentle treatment such as this.

Grateful—The pimples of the little girl of 14 years are the result of certain changes that are taking place in her system. You are doing the right thing in keeping her on a simple and nourishing diet.

Any of the honey and almond preparations used on your hands will do much to counteract the effects of housework. A few drops rubbed into the skin will be enough, and the advantage in using these mixtures when you are working, is that they leave the skin perfectly dry, so there need be no interruption in the work.

Loss—Dampening your hair each day to curl it will not hurt it. Massage scalp daily as that will improve the circulation so the secretions will be normal.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—A new type of thievery was disclosed here today when housewives along one block in an outlying district reported to the sheriff's office that a prowler had carried away every section of garden hose he found. Just what value the old hose will be to the thief is the question puzzling investigators.

While attempting to change a tire on his automobile on a busy street, S. R. Halloran, a salesman, was instantly killed today when a trailer attached to a motor truck ran over him. The truck had passed Halloran's machine and as he stepped down to resume his work, the trailer swerved in his direction.

After making one unsuccessful attempt to end his life by leaping from the second story of his home today, James Crier, 35, picked himself up, walked back to the same window and dove to the ground again. As a result of the second fall he was taken to the receiving hospital and found to be suffering from a basal skull fracture and probably will die. Friends stated he became dependent over continued ill health.

An unusual legal action was filed in the local courts today in which a wife sued a group of promoters for salary said to be due her husband which she claims has not been paid. The wife, Mrs. Hazel Abbott, states under a contract with the promoters, her husband was to be paid $10 and she was to receive $50 per week while Abbott filmed scenes in foreign lands.

PAST LEADER OF
LEGION HONORED

J. R. Quinn, Former National Commander, Is Guest at Post's Annual Banquet

as the nation is proud, so are these children whose fathers made the supreme sacrifice on the field of battle.

"The Boy Scout movement was taken up by the American Legion as a chance to reach out and assist the youths of today, to pick the boys out of a life of crime and put them into a life of usefulness. Put them where they learn what citizenship and responsibility mean."

Mr. Quinn urged every member of the American Legion to also accept the responsibility of citizenship, and to go to the polls on November 4 and vote. He asked them to preach better American citizenship and to teach it. Throughout his address he recounted many incidents of war days as well as peace days.

Seek 400 Members
Post Commander Wilson, in his address of welcome, complimented the local auxiliary on the assistance they had been to the post. Many auxiliary units throughout Southern California have been sponsored by the Glendale auxiliary unit, he said.

The Glendale post of the Legion has 270 members, he said, and 87 candidates are awaiting initiation at the meeting to be held October 24. Forty-three more candidates are needed, he said, to bring the membership up to 400, a mark he has set for the first of the year.

"The Department of California looks to the Glendale post for inspiration," declared James Fiske, state adjutant. "The progress and industry of the Glendale post is known throughout the state, and many other posts are modeling their work and their aims after those of this organization. It is just as necessary to keep up the morale in peace time as it was in the days of the war."

State Adjutant Fiske told of a visit made yesterday to the government hospital at Sawtelle. He urged the members of the post to do all in their power to lighten the last days of the veterans of three wars who are fighting to regain their health. The state adjutant and Department Commander Combs have been on an inspection tour of Southern California posts. Mr. Fiske will be in Redlands and Riverside today, while Mr. Combs was the guest of the Kiwanis club at South Pasadena today.

Community Singing
James Foley, poet-humorist of Pasadena, delighted the large assembly with his reminiscences of war days when he traveled from camp to camp to give talks to soldiers. He recited several of his poems, among them "Chums," which was written more than twenty years ago.

The banquet was opened by a prayer by James F. McBryde, past commander of the post. The community singing of "America" was led by Owen Emery. A number of songs were sung by the Euterpean Quartet, composed of J. Howard Johnson, first tenor and manager; J. M. Huddy, second tenor; Arthur Clayton, baritone, and Forest Bell, bass. Marguerite Johnson was accompanist. The members of the quartet, who have appeared on countless radio programs, donated their services for the banquet, and the guests enjoyed their singing.

Dance Numbers
Milford Jackson sang "The Painter" and "Thank God for a Garden," with Mrs. Hazel Kendall Potts at the piano. Three numbers were sung by Keaumoku A. Louis, with Miss Mildred Pray at the piano.

Jane Gay Davis and Morton Davis, Jr., pupils of the Edith Lindsay Studio of Dramatic Art, gave exhibition ballroom dances. Mrs. J. M. Davis was accompanist for the numbers. Miss Sarah Chandler delighted the guests with her "Brittany Dance," arranged by Miss Lindsay. Miss Lindsay presented "Dance Russe," a number created by M. Pokine. Miss Chandler's costume was by Alias & Co., London, while Miss Lindsay's costume was by Max Weldy, Paris. Miss Marion Aronson rendered the musical settings for the dance numbers by Miss Lindsay and Miss Chandler.

Glendale Police Chief
Names 'Woman In Case'

Peter Gross of Los Angeles, accused of the suicide was carried prominently in yesterday's Los Angeles papers, is said by Chief John D. Fraser of Glendale to have been the husband of a woman giving her name as Mrs. Gertrude Isensee, who, on the night of July 7, leaping from an automobile on Verdugo road and sustained serious injuries.

Mrs. Isensee was riding with J. Baker of 1209 West Twelfth street Los Angeles, according to her sworn statement made in the presence of Chief Fraser. In this statement she accused Baker of committing a statutory offense. The next day Peter Gross came to see her at the Glendale hospital, saying he was her uncle.

It since has been established that she was Mrs. Gross, said Chief Fraser. They had been married before Gross received a final decree of divorce from a former wife. It was because Gross had tried to set aside this marriage that Mrs. Gross, alias Mrs. Isensee, brought suit against Gross for $150,000, according to Chief Fraser.

Pan-American Petroleum & Transport is expected to offer an issue of $12,000,000 ten-year six per cent bonds. Part of proceeds will be used to refund the Mexican Pete 8's bonds now outstanding in amount of approximately $7,400,000 and remainder will be employed in corporate purposes.

Roar of Motors
The ZR-3 came into Lakehurst slowly, at a height of about 2,000 feet, dipped its snub nose downward and steadily came closer to the earth, all the while, however, continuing to slowly circle the field.

There was a terrific din of automobile horns as the big liner seemed to stand almost perfectly still in mid-air, in the center of the field. The roar of the motors by this time had become almost deafening. The very buildings seemed to vibrate.

Although momentarily indicating that it was about to descend, Commander Dr. Hugo Eckener apparently changed his mind, and the ZR-3 again slowly turned its nose about and floated about in the air. At 9:25, eight minutes after it was sighted, she was still in the air, hardly higher than a first-class office building skyscraper.

The ZR-3 landed at 9:55 a. m., amid cheers of the crowd that rushed across the landing field, to where the German ship came to rest.

"A wonderful, never-to-be-forgotten trip" was the characterization of the commander of the ZR-3, Dr. Hugo Eckener—a trip that will live in history.

Dr. Eckener, like others who made the trip, was jubilant. He is a stocky, clean-cut man of about fifty, with closely-cropped grey hair, keen blue eyes, a Van Dyke beard and eye glasses.

Equally pleased and apparently as proud of the ZR-3's achievement was Lieutenant-Commander Sidney Krause, U. S. N.

"We ran our four engines continuously and the last day and a half we used all our engines," said Lieutenant Krause.

"Our greatest altitude was above New York when we rose to a height of 12,000 feet in order to let our gas cells equalize when we came down at Lakehurst. We circled over the city twice and looked things over. No, we could not hear what the people below were saying about us."

DOBINSON STOCK
TAKES NEW ROLE

Stage Version Tarkington's
'Country Cousin' Given
By Popular Company

The Dobinson Players' opening presentation today of "The Country Cousin," dramatized from Booth Tarkington's novel of the same title by Julian Street, at the club playhouse is attracting much interest from Glendaleans who saw the first production of this stock company.

William Harvey Stephens, one of the principals in the cast, is well known to New York theatregoers, where he played a successful two years' engagement with Walter Hampden. Mr. Stephens is in his early 20s, and a direct descendant of Edwin Booth. Richard Ehlers, juvenile, was director of the University of California Little theatre, 1923-24, and was for two years connected with Irving Pichel's playhouse. Carroll Nye, another member of the cast, played in support of Wallace Edinger, Pauline Lord, Leo Carrillo and other artists of equal prominence.

Popular Leading Man
John Vosburgh, leading man, recently finished a forty-two weeks' engagement over the Orpheum circuit. He has been seen on the screen with Mae Murray, Dorothy Dalton, Bessie Barriscale, Frank Keenan and William S. Hart. Mr. Vosburgh served in the World War in the "Rainbow Division" and saw action at Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne forest. Returning from France, he played with the Majestic stock company, Los Angeles.

Supporting Cast
Mary Isabelle Alpaugh was for nine years a student at Westlake and her father, the late Edwin Alpaugh, was one of the pioneers in Los Angeles. Gertrude Kellar is also well known for her stage work. Rosamonde Joyzelle, especially engaged for this production, is well known for her portrayal of Mary in the "Pilgrimage Play."

Industrial Committee
Appointed by Chamber

The following committee was appointed yesterday afternoon by the industrial council of the Chamber of Commerce to make a survey of prospects and investigate industries: T. W. Watson, W. L. Truitt, C. R. Smurr, industrial agent of the Union Pacific, and Lawrence H. Grady, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The committee will ascertain what acreage and lots in the city are available for industrial purposes, railroad facilities, land prices, investigate the responsibility of concerns desiring to locate here and get in communication with firms looking for new locations.

Pianist Will Entertain
Oakmont Club People

Wesley K. Kuhnle, pianist, of 111 West Maple street, is to entertain Oakmont Country club members and guests during the music hour Sunday night.

A skilled workman can make 2000 to 3000 cigarettes by hand a day, while a machine will produce 150,000 in the same length of time.

and also as Josefa Yorba, opposite Frederick Warde in the "Mission Play." She has filled engagements at the Alcazar, Columbia and other theatres in San Francisco. Thyra Ruhland, another member of the company, is an actress of ability. George C. Pearce, director of the company, needs no introduction. He is a Glendalean, and his friends are legion. Gertrude Rothe, Arthur Lovejoy and Edith Fassett are all experienced players.

Mrs. Dobinson's Message
Speaking of the opening, Florence Dobinson said: "It is the day of stock companies. We are back to living actors and friendship with our local players. Do we really understand what 'stock' means? It is an old-fashioned introduction. He is a Glendalean, and it stands for much in the theatre. It means a group of actors under the guidance of one who loves the theatre and produces each play for its value and every actor his opportunity."

HUMAN LIFE TO PROFIT BY RADIO

Vegetable Domain Gets Kick From Treatment; Science Now to Help Us

By O. L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Radio has put such a kick into vegetable life that University of Chicago scientists have begun to speculate about the possibilities of its use in rejuvenating humans.

Tales of radio farming, brought to the university by Prof. V. H. Blackman of the Imperial College of Science, London, have started this speculation over the ramifications into which radio may find itself diverted when all its secrets are known.

It was this same speculative nature that caused the Imperial College of Science to try out radio farming with results that Professor Blackman describes as remarkable. The plants responded to the treatment with such a vim that a small tract of wheat produced nearly 25 per cent more grain than did a similar tract not treated to the radio stimulus.

Grain Crops Increased
"In our experiments," Professor Blackman explained, "we restricted the work to a small plot of ground. About four feet apart we stretched insulated wires carrying high voltage currents, sometimes as high as 100,000 volts. As a result of the radio application, we have increased yields of grain."

This method of farming, the professor said, is far too expensive to be practical, but if the same rejuvenating effect can be caused on humans, radio application would be worth the cost, which would be much more restricted than that needed to radioize a grain field.

The radio puts more activity into cell life, according to the scientific explanation. Respiration is improved with increased protoplasmic activity, so that the whole plant benefits.

Plants Thrive
In fact, plants have such a hankering for radio waves that scientists have now come to the opinion that the reason broadcasting in summer is so much less satisfactory than in winter, is because of the avidity with which vegetable life absorbs the energy sent out. Fans may reap an indirect benefit in the form of better crops if the amount of radio activity becomes sufficient to have a general effect.

It begins to look to physicists as though they are constantly running onto new fertile ground in their study of electrical forces in the air.

From radio rain producers to radio health rejuvenation for plants, and one of these days in all probability for humans—there is a wizardry about the whole procedure that leads the experimenters on. Only they were balked this season in rain producing activities on the Pacific coast. The producers did not deliver, despite elaborate preparations in some places to test out the possibility of causing precipitation by sending radio charges into the air.

Three Thefts Listed By Police Department

F. D. Dudley, proprietor of the Dudley Dry Goods Co., at 1728 South San Fernando road, reported today that a man entered his store yesterday afternoon and made off with four or five bolts of crepe de chine. He followed the man to Central avenue and lost track of him. Glendale police were notified.

R. W. Bogan of 121 South Kenwood street reported the theft from his car, parked at that address, of a grey overcoat, in the pocket of which was his automobile registration certificate. The theft occurred early last night.

J. E. Anderson reported the theft of a spare tire from his car.

ern Pacific Co., stating the Interstate Commerce commission had approved the merger of the El Paso & Southwestern and the Southern Pacific. Mr. Sproule expressed his thanks to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for its support in the merger fight and said the consolidation would mean much to Glendale and all of Southern California, inasmuch as it would give better freight service to the south and southeastern points.

A letter was also received asking for action on the water and power act, but Director L. H. Wilson said Glendale was not in a position to make any investigation of the matter and suggested this city follow whatever action is taken by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. On motion of Director Lyman Clark it was decided to follow in the footsteps of Los Angeles.

Records Are Cleared
A number of resignations from the Chamber of Commerce were accepted. Part of these were from firms or individuals who have left the city, while others were from members who are delinquent. The resignations were made to clear the records and an effort will be made to again line up the delinquents as active members.

A vote of appreciation was given Jesse Smith for his activity and co-operation in the membership drive and the success he has had in rounding up the delinquents.

Mr. Wilson complimented Howard Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, on the address he made at the luncheon of the Exchange club yesterday noon. Mr. Wood's remarks concerned the selling of Glendale to Glendale people first, his theory being that while it was difficult to sell Glendale to the outside world, it was a different matter to sell it to residents.

To Sponsor Meeting
It was announced that the Parent-Teacher association will have charge of the open forum meeting in November, January, which is still open, may be taken by one of the civic clubs.

The air mail subject has brought to the attention of the directors by Mr. Wood and he urged those present to bend every effort to send all the mail they could by air and have their friends do likewise.

Advertise on Train
An effort will be made to have Glendale better advertised on incoming trains from the east, Mr. Karr having stated that, while he was waiting for a train in the Pacific Electric station in Los Angeles, he noted that the Glendale literature was on the information counter. He said nearly all other cities and small towns were represented and mentioned an attractive folder of the Alhambra Chamber of Commerce which occupied a prominent place on the counter.

Mr. Wood suggested that some means be found to place literature on incoming trains and it was voted to leave the matter to him. Mr. Wood will communicate with the Chamber of Commerce at Albuquerque and Barstow and request them to place Glendale printed matter on overland trains.

Radio Program Open To Glendale Suburbs

Glendale will soon be heard on the air over radio station KFI, the Earl C. Anthony Co., in Los Angeles, if plans started last night mature.

A letter was read at the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce stating that suburban cities could put on a program over KFI once a month. The program is to consist of a ten-minute talk on the city's advantages, followed by a musical program.

Gould Warren, local realtor, was appointed by the board to head a committee to arrange details for broadcasting Glendale each month.

PICKS DAVIS TO WIN IN MISSOURI

Democrats In State Proving Strong; Republicans Are Lost, Says Lawrence

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 15.—Missouri has got back to "normalcy" so far as the Democratic party is concerned while the Republicans are likely this year to find their vote abnormally distributed with the consequence that John W. Davis is certain to carry the state.

Pluralities are difficult always to conjecture, but to place the figures at 15,000 to 20,000 is to make a conservative calculation for there are possibilities of a 30,000 plurality for Davis.

The outstanding characteristic of the situation is the defection of the German Republicans to La Follette. Not all the Germans, of course, will go for the third party candidate, but more than enough to make the Democratic victory assured. St. Louis, which has many Germans and many Republicans, shows a declining in registration which can only mean a loss to the Republicans.

Some For Davis
Here and there throughout the state are Republicans of prominence who announce themselves for Davis. This is not encountered in other states and illustrates the popularity of the Democratic nominee. The press campaign on behalf of Davis also has been very vigorous in the many parts of the state reached by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch which, in a feature article of ten thousand words by its Washington correspondent, Charles G. Ross, has just delivered an attack on Coolidge as "a myth."

The idea is developed by Mr. Ross just as by Frank Kent, of the Baltimore Sun that President Coolidge has been "protected" by friendly newspapermen from the penetrating criticism that might otherwise be hurled at him if this weren't a campaign year.

Democrats Strong
For the tide is running to Davis in Missouri. It isn't that Coolidge is unpopular, but in this state particularly an impression that he is ineffective in dealing with Congress has been carefully cultivated.

It is natural to find Missouri strongly Democratic. This is a state for which the mention of the name Bryan has no terrors for it voted that way a generation ago. In 1920, the Irish and other groups strayed from the Democratic party but they are for the most part coming back. John W. Davis' denunciation of the Klan has won him not only former Democrats but many Republicans. As for the negroes, thousands of them will march in the Davis parade, an unheard-of thing in Democratic politics, but it's all because President Coolidge hasn't denounced the Klan directly.

Men who have travelled the length and breadth of Missouri studying political conditions, are impressed by the number of railroad employees, who will vote for La Follette.

Women to Vote
There are Democratic counties which will suffer some losses on this account but the acquisitions due to the Klan fight and local issues are making up for the deficiencies. Another interesting phase of the campaign is the dropping off of registration among the women in the cities as contrasted with the increase in interest taken in politics by the women in the smaller towns and rural districts.

Missouri is what may always be called a doubtful frontier of the "solid south" but it takes some potent grievance to tear away the Democratic majority. This time with a party united behind Davis, there is every reason to expect a Democratic victory.

Glendale Plans Float For Pasadena Parade

Glendale again will have a float in the Pasadena floral parade this year. At last night's meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce L. H. Wilson moved and carried a motion that the same committees that acted last year be reappointed. The committee is composed of L. W. Chobe, chairman, who designed a number of winning floats, P. L. Perry, James M. Rhoades and C. C. Cooper.

Last year Glendale took two first prizes, one for the Chamber of Commerce float and one in the Elks' division. As the winner of two first prizes Glendale was also given the sweepstakes cup, making eleven cups that have been won to date by this city.

Denmark is to have a national radio club, whose first achievement will be the establishment and operation of a powerful broadcasting station.

IMPORTANT CONTESTS ON SCHEDULE FOR SATURDAY

MAY SETTLE SECTIONAL RANKINGS

Illinois-Michigan, Army and Notre Dame Tilts Are Center of Interest

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Sectional, intersectional and possibly national ranking may be determined by the outcome of Saturday's football games, comprising in toto the most impressive list ever compiled for an October week-end. Even at that immature date, it is altogether possible that the day will uncover a team that is destined to go on to national recognition as the championship outfit of 1924.

Illinois and Michigan are potential candidates for that high honor. They will meet in the big number of the western conference schedule on Saturday, and, barring a tie, will decide middle western supremacy for the moment. This game outranks in consequence even the Army-Notre Dame affair at the Polo grounds, fairly bristling as it does, with intersectional significance.

Unlike the Army and Notre Dame, which conduct an annual series to the army's annual regret, Michigan and Illinois haven't met in some years. Both laid just claim to the conference title in 1923, however, and Saturday's game was arranged with the idea of deciding something, it will.

Other meetings of consequence in the west call for Wisconsin to play Minnesota; Nebraska to take on Colgate and Southern California to face the Oregon Aggies in a coast conference game. All are of almost national import.

But there are no more so than the Dartmouth-Yale game at New Haven nor the Princeton-Navy meeting at Princeton. Usually there are eight days in the week every time two such meetings occur at one and the same time. Dartmouth is on its way back after several misfit seasons, and thinks it has a possible champion.

La Barba and McLarin Win Bouts at Vernon

Fidel La Barba, Olympic flyweight champion, and Jimmy McLarin had things their own way in the two main bouts at the Vernon arena last night. La Barba, giving Frankie Grandetta of Portland a terrific beating, and McLarin outboxing Young Nationalista. It was La Barba's first appearance as a professional fighter. Sailor Ashmore took a lacing from Bob Bridges in the special spot.

Yanks Deny Reported Hoyt-Shocker Trade

FIGHT RESULTS

At Portland—Jim Delaney, St. Paul heavyweight, knocked out Ray Pelkey, Oakland, Cal., in the sixth round.

At Butte—Jesse Strinker, Salt Lake, knocked out Emmett Womak, Ennis, Mont., in first round. Young Lundy, Salt Lake, knocked out Jimmy Freyer, Helena, in the fourth round.

At Denver—George Solis, Salt Lake, knocked out Benny Shannon, Laramie, Wyo., in three rounds.

At Seattle—Bobby Harper and Joe Simonich fought fast six rounds, draw.

With an excess of $1,000,000 cash on hand Intertype Corporation directors are scheduled to meet today and declare a 10 percent stock dividend on common in addition to regular disbursements.

May Quit After 1925

MILLER HUGGINS, who hangs around the Yankee lot in the summer, and spends his winters and cold springs in Florida at the training camp, has announced that next year will be his last season as helmsman for the New York American league team.

SPORT WISDOM

By WALTER CAMP
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Readers of this column, at least, were prepared for the Marquette avalanche which swept down upon the Navy Saturday. The writer had emphasized for weeks the strength of the western team, while many other critics were writing the game down as just a practice affair for the Annapolis eleven.

Saturday routed out many weak points among the so-called big fellows. Princeton found its early confidence, fanned by easy game of the preceding week, quite misplaced when its eleven stacked up against Lehigh and Yale caught a Tartar in Georgia and was lucky to come through with a win.

Coach Dobie of Cornell found he had no Kaw or Pfann and missed Sundstrom when his team met Williams. And this is no reflection on the men from New England. Williams had anticipated a job and they did it in a workmanlike manner, as their 14-7 victory proves.

West Virginia, too, was given something to think about in that Pitt team which lost the preceding week to Lafayette. Evidently Sutherland has been doing some strong work since that contest.

Lou Young, too, was given food for reflection in the way Mercer's Swarthmore team took liberties in the scoring line with the Red and Blue.

Princeton at present is dangerous only with the forward pass and the individual running of Slagle and Weeks, particularly the latter, who uncorks a fine burst of speed at the right moment. The line is unsteady on defense and vulnerable to sweeping runs inside and outside the tackles.

The teams whose stock rose markedly in Saturday's encounters were Dartmouth, Lafayette, Chicago, Colgate, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Penn. Army, Columbia, Lehigh, Georgia, Marquette, Washington and Jefferson, Williams, Carnegie, Oberlin, Swarthmore and Rutgers. Their future opponents will take note.

The teams which by given same encounters have given their supporters cause to be anxious are Princeton, Yale, Cornell, Brown, Michigan, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Ohio State, Iowa, Indiana, Washington and Lee, Georgia Tech and Auburn.

Fumbling was the bane of many teams. Princeton and Cornell being especially adept at that particular misplay. Columbia's work and that in the absence of Percy Haughton, who was at Philadelphia, looking over his Penn opponents, showed much greater consistency and a steady increase in power.

The general level of punting among the teams left in many cases much to be desired, but Bob Fisher at Cambridge is on easy street in this respect so long as Gehlke is in the game. A number of unusual low score encounters were many tie games and gagements, as for instance, Springfield-St. Johns, 2-0; Connecticut

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

While the Yankees still had the inside track on the pennant race last season Miller Huggins told his closest friends that 1925 would be his last year at the helm of a big league baseball team.

He gave two reasons for setting the date of his retirement a year ahead. One hinged on the winning of the pennant and the other on the loss of it.

"If I win and make it four straight flags, I'll want to try one more year and make it five," said the diminutive one.

"If I lose I won't want to appear in the light of a quitter. I'll try one year to come back."

The ultimate outcome of the American league scramble leaves him with the second cause for his decision.

Huggins, in his days as a player, became a big league star despite his midget build. To overcome his physical handicap, however, he had to depend upon speed on the field and close study of the fine points of the game in his off hours. Baseball was far from a pastime with him.

When he entered the managerial ranks, in New York, after a term at St. Louis, his size again loomed as a handicap. He had to demonstrate with his fire and by his handling of the youngsters and the temperamental stars that stature does not make the manager.

His knockers called him "the runt." He had to ignore the nickname and "made them like it."

The fame he won as an infielder and then as three times manager team, gave him the satisfaction of the sport netted him little pleasure or recreation outside. This is what he aims to get now—rest and "fun."

Whatever the success Huggins has with the Yanks next season, he will have written an enviable career for himself as a pilot. He built up a good team while managing the Cardinals.

Huggins reformed and weeded out most of those stars, slowly, but surely. Aaron Ward is Huggins' "youngster." He "made" Bob Meusel by converting him from an infielder to an outfielder—one of the best in the game. Fred Hofmann, some day, will take Wallie Schang's place as first string catcher. And Hofmann is one of Huggins' pupils.

Aggies-Maine, 3-0; Ohio Wesleyan-Ohio Northern, 3-2.

Forward passing was exceptionally prominent and more than that, in many cases, quite effective, notably in the case of Marquette against the Navy and Williams against Cornell.

The Army and Syracuse look like promising scoring machines, as do also Dartmouth and Penn State. Penn. W. & J., and Notre Dame show that they too can register something besides an occasional first down. Minnesota too has possibilities in this direction but the opposition has been rather feeble.

Factories of Bombay, India, are restricted by law to operate not more than 11 hours a day and not over 60 hours a week, and must give an hour's recess after five hours' work.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Nowadays the manager with an outstanding stable of fighters gets the job of matchmaker. This practice exists in practically every part of the country, more so in cities where there are no celebrities and they have to depend on out-of-town talent for their shows. This is an injustice to the patrons, as the manager is of necessity compelled to protect his own fighter and is inclined to be very careful of the opponent selected to face him. Then, again matchmaker-managers must keep their own fighters busy so that in the long run, the same fighters appear in all shows and the outsider or newcomer is not given a chance if he figures to bother the club fighters.

The rules of the New York state athletic commission prohibits anyone having any connection with fighters from holding a license as matchmaker. This rule is simply evaded by transferring the contracts existing between the manager and fighter to some friend or partner who can be trusted to behave, or, better yet, a member of the family.

Scottie Monteth has been getting Kid Kaplan, the Meriden bearcat, frequent engagements in New York and to date has been able to give him first call on the featherweight title although he is hardly able to make the required poundage. Most of his engagements have been made at 130 pounds and he has difficulty in making that weight. It is unlikely, however, that he will follow the lead of former Champion Johnny Dundee and relinquish his claim when compelled to post a substantial forfeit to make 126 pounds for a dangerous competitor.

During the past six months, Kaplan has been fighting Junior lightweight and lightweights. Bobby Garci, according to report, was handed a rotten decision in Waterbury when given a draw and the same applies to Cuddie de Marco who made Kaplan look very bad. Kaplan's main bid for recognition is four hectic battles with Babe Herman, each winning a decision and two draw contests, and his four round victory over Danny Frush.

BALL TEAM SEEKS SUPPORT OF CITY

Asks Chamber of Commerce To Lend Its Aid; Club In Financial Stress

Glendale Chamber of Commerce was appealed to at last night's meeting to lend its support to Glendale's baseball team. George Lyons was petitioner, acting, he explained, for the thousands of fans interested in keeping Glendale on the baseball map.

Mr. Lyons explained that something had to be done immediately if the reputation of Glendale's team was to be upheld and this "something" had to come in the way of financial support.

Among the reasons offered by Mr. Lyons for the retention of a diamond representative in Glendale's field of sports, was that the team was one of the city's best advertising mediums. He cited numerous occasions when accounts of Glendale's games were given conspicuous space in the Los Angeles papers.

Outline of Plan
Concurring with Mr. Lyons in his appeal for financial help for the ball team was Frank Kerwin. Together they set forth a plan which they said would insure the ball team sufficient income during the winter season to meet all expenses and pay creditors. It was explained that the team faced a deficit of $4500.

Here's the plan: Each business man in the city will be asked to subscribe $1 a week for which the subscriber will receive two admission tickets, thus eliminating the donation element. This, according to Lyons and Kerwin, will insure about $1000 income a month. Of this sum $250 will

Venice Plumbers Win Match From Feathers

The Plumbers took the first game by two pins, but snowed the Red Feathers under for the second game, 1039 to 945, and the third game went to the local team. McNabb of the winners got individual high score of 239, high total of 636, and high average of 212. The score:

Good Schedule Ahead
Mr. Kerwin said that nearly all semi-professional teams had to have outside support and that a better team is contemplated this year as negotiations for several coast league players were in progress. It is planned to have one of the eastern major league teams here for a game on October 26.

George Karr, of the board of directors, also expressed the opinion that something should be done to keep a ball team in Glendale. It finally was decided to refer the matter to the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce with the recommendation a letter of endorsement be given the ball team to enable it to solicit the $1 per week.

BABES COME BACK STRONG AND WIN

Beat Pasadena In Last Half; Lightweights to Open Here Tomorrow

Although outplayed in the first half Coach Eugene Wolfe's 110-pounders came back strong in the last half and trampled on the Pasadena "Babes" yesterday on the Crown City field, 30-0.

All of the local touchdowns were made in the second half. The young Dynamiters frequently made yards on end runs. George Los, Glendale center, blocked a Pasadena punt and Frank Wykoff picked up the ball and raked to the goal line for a touchdown. The other touchdowns were made by Ossier, Lovell and Mainland.

Lightweights Play
Tomorrow afternoon the Dynamite lightweights will officially open the Central leagues schedule when they play the Citrus High school lightweights at Broadway field. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock, and will be Glendale's first opportunity to witness 1924 league football.

The lightweights have a strong team this year, according to the coaches, and are out to annex the pennant in their division.

Junior Lightweight To Defend His Title

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Kid Sullivan, who won the junior lightweight title from Johnny Dundee some months ago, will defend his title tonight in a 15-round bout with Mike Ballerino. The champ is favored.

DYNAMITERS AND CITRUS TO PLAY

Locals Face Tough Game on Friday With Best Men On Injured List

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

With one of the toughest games of the year only two days away, Coach Hayhurst is working on the problem of getting into condition a strong team to beat the Citrus eleven Friday. Elmer Muff, former lightweight back, who so far has shown up well for the Dynamiters will probably be unable to play on account of an injured arm. Mariah Morrison, veteran guard, and Dixon Fannon, star tackle, have injuries which may keep them out of Friday's game.

Hayhurst is having trouble this year in finding some one to do the kicking for the locals. Bud Elliot did the booting for the Dynamiters against the U. S. C. Frosh. Carl Denney has tried the full-back position this season but is none too good on the kicking end. Both Elliot and Denney are rather slow about getting their kicks off.

Charles Lundie, lanky tackle, who is after a permanent position on the first team, was tried out at kicking last year. He is without doubt the longest punter in the school but is slow. If his game could be speeded up he would be a marvelous man to take out of the line to do the passing and kicking.

As for the line Hayhurst is very undecided. With the possibility of Morrison and Fannon out, Lundie, Habbick or Greene may get a chance to play.
